VOICES OF LEADERSHIP: REFLECTIONS OF AFRICA HEALTH EXCON 2025

H.E. Dr. Khaled Abdel Ghaffar

Deputy Prime Minister, Minister of Health and Population of Egypt

The partnership between the Unified Procurement Authority (UPA), Africa CDC, and AUDA-NEPAD in this edition has placed the conference firmly on the African medical map. It has established a prominent position for the event within the medical field across Africa and globally. The conference has become a key platform for signing agreements to localize medical industries in Africa. Through this collaboration, Egypt, together with its African partners, is well-positioned to achieve significant advancements in the healthcare sector by leveraging their combined expertise and accumulated experience.

Dr. Hisham Stait

Chairman of the Unified Procurement Authority of Egypt

Africa Health ExCon 2025 has once again proven to be more than just an exhibition and conference — it is a powerful catalyst for shaping the future of healthcare in Africa. This year's edition, organized in close partnership with Africa CDC and AUDA-NEPAD, has strengthened our shared vision of a self-reliant continent where medical innovation, local manufacturing, and unified strategies come together to serve every African citizen. Egypt remains deeply committed to working hand in hand with our African brothers and sisters to transform challenges into opportunities and to build a healthier, more sustainable future for generations to come.

VOICES OF LEADERSHIP: REFLECTIONS OF AFRICA HEALTH EXCON 2025

H.E. Dr. Jean Kaseya
Director General, Africa CDC

As co-host of Africa Health ExCon 2025 we believe ExCon is more than an event, it's a movement. A movement that will shape Africa's sovereignty. In 2021 African leaders set a bold target to manufacture 60% of the continent vaccines by 2040. Since then Africa CDC has been driving this vision engaging industry leaders and scaling up investment through strategic collaborations. Together, we are building stronger systems, localizing medical industries, and ensuring that Africa is prepared not only to respond to health challenges, but to lead in creating sustainable solutions for its people. The success of this edition reflects our shared determination to achieve the Africa We Want.

Mrs. Nardos Bekele Thomas
CEO AUDA-NEPAD

At the African Union development agency (Nepad) we know that Africa's path to true health sovereignty lies not only in innovation but also in building resilient and integrated systems that's why we were proud to participate in the 4th edition of Africa Health ExCon.

Here we spotlight how Africa lead artificial intelligence is transforming disease surveillance supply chain management and health service delivery through the African Union development agency (Nepad) AI programs. With our continental AI strategies we are advancing technologies that are ethically grounded, locally driven, and designed to serve our people.
